

Community of Christ African American Ministries

Our Mission

By celebrating our heritage and diversity, we will build greater understanding of how we are strengthened by sharing in worship and community with one another.

Education and Training

Develop, implement and promote training and educational experiences that are designed to support individuals, priesthood, leadership development, ministry and congregational enrichment.

Networking and Communications

Share information of missionary stories, international church events, testimonies, ministry development, worship resources and current congregational highlights from around the country that exemplifies or impacts cultural diversity.

Congregational Development

Create, share and promote models of ministry that support diverse worship, preaching, cultural inclusiveness and reconciliation of communities.

The African American Ministries Team (AAMT)

African American Ministries Team (AAMT) will focus on celebrating our heritage and diversity in the United States by promoting strategies and ministries that build greater understanding of how our church is strengthened by sharing in worship, ministry, sacraments, training, outreach and community with one another.

The AAMT consists of volunteers from various ministries that serve as support and counsel to the African American ministries specialist for Community of Christ. Specifically, the team will serve as organizers and leaders of African American members and friends within the U.S. Community of Christ.

The AAMT fits within the church's core beliefs and Enduring Principles and specifically helps us put into action our principles of worth of all persons, unity in diversity, and blessings of community.
